

Land Use in Georgia: Urban Planning and Neighborhood Change in the Peach State

April 6, 2019 at the Georgia Archives

- 9:55 Welcome from Christopher Davidson, State Archivist / Assistant Vice Chancellor USG
- 10:00 From Activist to Inspiration: Frederick Law Olmstead and the Legacy of his Linear Parks
Laura Starratt
- 11:00 Break, sponsored by the Friends of Georgia Archives and History (FOGAH)
- 11:15 Layered Land Use: History Unearthed, Laurel Bowen, Kevin S. Fleming, William W. Hardesty
- 12:15 Lunch available for a cash donation
Slideshow: Selected images from the Georgia Archives collections
- 1:15 Student Performance: "Buford Dam, Lake Lanier, and the Families Forced to Uproot," Nancy Marie Glasscock
- 1:30 Panel: Land Use and Neighborhood Change in Atlanta, 1920s to the Present:
Healthy Neighborhood Development: Land Use, Transportation, and Housing in Atlanta from the 1920s applied to Today, Eric Kronberg and Elizabeth Ward
The Georgia Avenue Business District and the Summerhill Neighborhood: From Vibrant Neighborhood to Parking Lots (and Back Again?), Marni Davis
Regulating Out Mixed-Use: The Origins and Consequences of Atlanta's Nonconforming Use Zoning Regulations, Joe Hurley
- 2:30 Break, sponsored by the Friends of Georgia Archives and History (FOGAH)
- 2:45 The Good, the Bad, and the Blueprint: The 1925 Warren Manning Plan for the Development of Athens, Georgia, Beth Whitlock and Steven Brown

Event is free and open to the public

Friends of
Georgia Archives
And History

GEORGIA ARCHIVES
1918 - 2018

5800 Jonesboro Road
Morrow, GA 30260
www.GeorgiaArchives.org
678-364-3710