

A Special Invitation for Health Professionals

APA's 2014 National Planning Conference | April 26–30

Is your community built for active living? Does fresh food have a place at the table? Are clean air and water more than a "someday" thing? Does the social fabric support every stage of life? Planners and public health professionals share ideas in a three-day conference within a conference. Join in and make your community a better place.

Planning Healthy Communities Symposium | April 27–30

Take your place at a program designed just for you. Sample topics include:

- Safe Walking and Walkability for Health
- Tools for Integrating Health Into Local Planning
- Building Partnerships for Healthy Communities
- Public Health and Physical Design

See the full program at http://goo.gl/o5ezKz

Health Day | April 28

Special one-day rate for nonmembers. Register at http://goo.gl/4XmFiH To begin the registration process, please create a nonmember APA ID.

A full-day program for Health Professionals. On the agenda:

- Plenary with Dr. Georges C. Benjamin, APHA
- Using Health Data in Planning Decisions
- Park Prescriptions, Transportation, and Aging in Place
- Health Equity and the Built Environment
- Healthy Communities Reception

Ways to Save

If you're trying to keep costs down—and who isn't?—here are a few tips:

- Sign up by February 27 for the early-bird discount.
- Register online to save the paper-processing fee.
- Opt for Monday only (but think of all you'd miss!).
- Join APA. You'll save on conference registration, plus you'll receive Planning magazine.

WHERE

Georgia World Congress Center Atlanta

KEY DATES

Early registration closes February 27, 2014

Advance registration ends March 27, 2014

LODGING

Find APA discounts on lodging within walking distance of the conference. planning.org/conference/housing

PROGRAM

Full conference program at planning.org/conference/program

REGISTER NOW! planning.org/conference

American Planning Association Making Great Communities Happen